WONDERS ABOUT CATTLE TEST LAW

DANGER REGARDLESS OF SIZE OF HERD—ERNEST WRAY

BUT IT'S NOT EXPLAINED

Law Simply Says Five or More—Democrat-Forum Publishes Sections Again Today

Out of about 100 head of cattle tested for tuberculosis Monday at the farm of Ernest Wray, two were found infected.

"Almost everyone in the neighborhood had cattle there," says Mr. Wray "with the exception of a few who got the impression they would not be allowed to buy cattle that had not been tested and put them in with tested herds and who know you can sell cream from four or less cows without having had them tested and do it without laying yourself liable.

"Isn't cream from four cows, one of which is infected with tuberculosis, just as dangerous as that from five cows, one of which is infected with the disease? I wish that some one would make this plain in the paper for the benefit of those who think they know but who may be wrong. Anyone with a cow having tuberculosis ought to be glad to know it and willing to dispose of her."

The law simply says applies to herds of five or more cows and no explanation is made of cases where a herd of small size is infected. It is supposed that in making the law it was thought that there was little cream put on the market from herds of less than 4 cows, products from such small fit of those in doubt about it, will such small herds of less than four cows, the products from such small herds generally being used for private consumption. The Democrat-Forum published the two sections of the law pertaining to this matter on June 28 of this year but for the benefit of those who are in doubt it will publish it again today. It follows:

Section 1. Requiring physical examination and tuberculin tests of cattle in herds of five or more before disposing of milk, cream, butter or buttermilk. No person, firm or corporation owning, or in charge of, any herd of cattle containing five head of cows or more, after January 1, 1922, shall sell, offer for sale, give away or deliver any milk, cream, butter, or buttermilk from any of the cows of such herds, unless all of the herd of cattle containing such five head of cows or more, owned by, or in possession of, such person, firm or corporation have been duly inspected and tested and found free from tuberculosis and other communicable diseases, as determined by a physical examination and the tuberculin test by an official, duly authorized by this state or by federal government. Provided that said examination and tuberculin test shall incur no expense whatever to the owner of said herd.

CODE MEET TAKES AN ADJOURNMENT YESTERDAY

Delegate Hull Arrived Home This Morning—Delegate M. E. Ford Expected This Evening

The constitutional convention adjourned yesterday until Tuesday, because it was found impossible to keep a quorum in the hall. Of the eighty-three members, thirty-nine were absent from the city. The convention had faced this proposition all week, and the members felt that, since no measure of importance could be considered with so slim an attendance, it would be just as well to adjourn.

Delegate Fred Hull returned to Maryville this morning from Jefferson City. He expects to be in Maryville until next Wednesday when he will go to Kansas City to attend the annual meeting of the Missouri Press asociation of which he is president.

M. E. Ford of Maryville, another delegate to the convention, is expected to arrive in Maryville this evening Mr. Ford and his law partner, George Pat Wright, are attorney's in a case which is scheduled for trial Monday before Special Judge Charles H. Mayer of St. Joseph. The case is J. Tom Workman and the Gillam-Jackson Loan and Trust Co., against F. M. Workman to discover some assets of the estate of the late George W. Workman.

FOR ORGANIZATION IN CHRISTIAN CH.

WANT MEN, WOMEN AND YOUNG PEOPLE IN COUNCILS.

BANNER TO BURL. JCT.

Young People Tomorrow Evening—Next Convention in Maryville, Too.

Three things of importance were carried on yesterday afternoon and evening in the Annual County Sunday School Convention of the Christian Church, held in Maryville yesterday. One was preparations for the making of a county-wide organization of men of the churches, another for the making of a county organization for the women and the other for a county-wide organization for the young people.

E. P. Taggart, pastor of the Christian Church at Burlington Junction, presented the matter of a men's organization, setting forth the need for it and what it would mean to christian work in the county.

Mrs. E. E. Elliott of Kansas City spoke on a woman's organization, to be known as the Woman's council. She said that there was a big need for such an organization in Nodaway County as in all other counties and that there was a great deal of good to come from it.

Miss Imo Evans of Lathrop presented the matter of a young people's organization for the county at the young people's session last night. Miss Evans remains in Maryville and will hold at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon a conference with the young people's leaders. She will address the young adult people at the church at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening.

It was decided at the convention that the annual meeting next year will be held in Maryville also, Maryville being the most centrally located of all the towns. Discussion of a county paper for the Christian churches was carried on. The sentiment of the meeting was for the paper.

George Wilfley gave the financial report of the convention.

The banner for the largest attendance was carried off by Burlington Junction.

An interesting young peoples meeting was held at the Christian church last night in connection with the County Convention which was held there yesterday. The first part of the session was in the nature of a business program and O. G. Null of Pickering presided.

After this the main part of the meeting was held. At this Miss Margaret Louise Hosmer presided. She introduced Miss Imo Evans of Lathrop, who talked to the young people on the ten point standard of efficiency for the Disciples church.

After the talk by Miss Evans there were songs and then the meeting was turned into a pep meeting. Delegatioins from Barnard and Burlington Junction gave yells and songs and the Maryville people responded.

After the battery has been inspected there will be a barnwarming on the second floor of the armory building. The hall will be decorated in harmony with the fall season and the guests will be dressed in overalls and gingham aprons. Dancing, which will be the feature of the evening, will start at 9 o'clock. Music will be furnished by the Gloom Chasers, a five piece orchestra.

Captain Maynor urges that all of the men who have signed for the battery be at the armory tonight promptly so that the business of inspection can be completed in plenty of time for the barnwarming.

SIXTY-FIVE BUILDINGS TO BE HEATED BY OIL

St. Francis Hospital With Its New Tanks Will Be One of the Big Consumers.

Sixty-five homes and business houses in Maryville will burn oil instead of coal this winter. Within the last month a number of tanks have been installed and they have or will be filled with distillate. The oil burns at the rate of 125 to 150 gallons of oil to one ton of coal.

Two tanks have been ordered for the St. Francis hospital. One of them has a capacity of 12,000 gallons and the other 8,500. The larger of these tanks will be the largest in Maryville when it arrives. A tank and burner have been installed at the Public Library. The tank holds 4,700 gallons and has already been filled.

One of the reasons that so many people are installing oil burners is that perhaps they fear a coal shortage and another is that burning oil is much cleaner and requires much less time than burning coal.

ERNEST WRAY FOR REPRESENTATIVE

REPUBLICANS SELECT MYRTLE TREE FARMER AS CANDIDATE.

ROSS UNABLE TO RUN

Burlington Junction Superintendent Had to Resign—No Candidate for Probate Judge.

Ernest Wray of the Myrtle Tree community has been selected as the Republican candidate for representative as C. F. Ross, the candidate selected at primary, has resigned. The selection of Mr. Wray was made yesterday by H. L. Raines, secretary of the Republican county committee, who called up every member of the committee to see if Mr. Wray was acceptable.

Mr. Ross, who is superintendent of the schools at Burlington Junction resigned on account of the fact he would be unable to make a campaign and still be superintendent and also he would be unable to serve as representative if elected and keep his school position. Mr. Ross had no opposition at the primary.

The resignation of Mr. Ross has been in the hands of the Republican county committee for some time and efforts have been made to find some one who would accept.

The Republicans have one vacancy on their county ticket, probate judge, which is said will not be filled.

The Democratic candidate for representative is William Job, who has served in that position and who was defeated for re-election two years ago in the landslide.

THOMPSONS BUY SUTTERLIN FARM

SHORTHORN BREEDERS OF DE KALB GET POSSESSION MARCH 1

CAME FOR ADVANTAGES

Impressed by College, C. of C. and Productive Land—Consideration $30,000

T. H. Thompson and his son, Herbert W. Thompson, prominent shorthorn cattle breeders of De Kalb County, purchased today from Jake Sutterlin the Jesse Douglas farm, three miles southwest of Maryville. The farm contains 120 acres and is well improved and equipped for the handling of live stock. The consideration was $30,000, or $250 an acre.

Good schools, a good Chamber of Commerce and highly productive land are the things that Herbert W. Thompson said this morning caused them to make the purchase. They have had their eye on Nodaway County for several years, having attended the sales of the Bellows Bros., a number of times. This week Miss Winifred Thompson, daughter of T. H. Thompson, entered the State Teachers College. Mr. Thompson accompanied his daughter here from their farm near Maysville. He looked at the Sutterlin place and today returned and the deal was made.

The Thompsons are to get possession of the place March 1 and will bring with them to Nodaway County a good herd of pure bred shorthorns.

The farm, which is a part of the old Bill Baker place, was purchased two or three years ago by Mr. Sutterlin from Mr. Douglas.

PSYCHOLOGY OF ACCIDENTS

A recent statement of automobile accidents gives the record for a year as about 12,000 persons killed and 300,000 injured. An epidemic that caused so much suffering and death, not to speak of expense would be called a dreadful calamity. But as these injuries occur in a scattered way, only a few at one time or place, no great public disturbance is caused.

The increased number of cars together with a great number of careless drivers, accounts easily enough for this evil. And the two most essential elements in such accidents are speed of operation, and failure to consider what other people are going to do. The first factor is obvious, the second calls for more thought.

Many drivers on approaching an intersection, for instance will assume that the cars coming across their path are going to keep operating at a uniform rate of speed. They head directly for such a car which is coming right across their track, trusting that at its present speed it will have passed before they reach it. But, if for any cause, that car slows up, a collision is inevitable.

Similarly people will run along swiftly, closely following another machine. If the first car has to slow up for any reason, the second may be unable to stop and may bump into the first car's rear.

In dealing with foot traffic, many drivers act on the theory that pedestrians and children are going to keep walking or runnnig at uniform rate. If these people heedlessly stop or change their direction they get run over.

There will be an enormous number of accidents, until drivers learn that they must consider more carefully the things that the other fellow may do. They must have their cars so well in control that even in case of a change of speed or alteration of course on the part of another machine or pedestrians or children, they can stop before harm is done.

Senator Lodge has landed again.

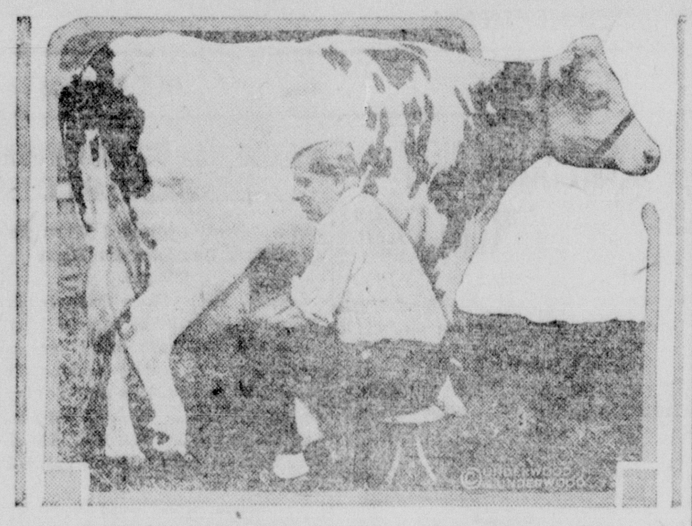
One of the great jokes of the present election system in Missouri is the adoption of a party platform by the candidates after they are nominated.

Porto Rico still insists that that country does not want E. Mont Reilley for Governor, but the administration at Washington is just as insistent that it does.

Luther Burbank says man can be improved as well as plants. Not as long as all the attention is given to raising better pigs and none to the raising of better babies.

In the whole of the year 1921 all the American railroads ordered 239 engines but this year the American Locomotive Company reports the receipt of 170 orders for locomotives in one week. Business is evidently good with the locomotive work anyway.

He's a Congressional Dairyman



"A congressional dairyman and proud of it," is the way Congressman John D. Clarke of New York describes himself. This photograph shows that he still works at his old profession, too, and he declares he never fails to go out among the cows when he is back at his farm near Fraser, N. Y.

"Bill" Burgess Now a British Lord

William Burgess of Milwaukee recently received the news that he had fallen heir to the titles and estates of his father, known as Lord Roberts. Known to his intimates in Milwaukee newspaper circles as plain "Bill," Burgess has made elaborate plans for entering upon his domains as a British peer. He was engaged in newspaper work for several years, and while in Montreal he frequently came into contact with visiting members of the nobility. Seventeen years ago Burgess chanced to meet the then prince of Wales, now King George. It was while the prince of Wales was making a tour of Canada, and Burgess, together with other newspaper correspondents, occupied a car of the royal train. So when Bill Burgess is presented at the Court of St. James as Lord Roberts he will not be entirely a stranger to the king. In later years Burgess left the newspaper field and engaged in the artificial flower business and the photograph shows him at work in his shop.

With a new generation growing up asking what is the difference between the two old political parties in actual practice and an older generation unable to explain to them, it is getting to be about time that the substantial representatives of the two parties, who are not themselves candidates get together and proclaim a few specific affirmations of fundamental principles and policies with fewer meaningless denunciations. Let them detail some of those "time honored principles" which are unknown to half of those living and send their nominees before the country on platforms that mean something more than personal aggrandizement or personal expediency. And it is time that something new be developed in the progress of human affairs to go along with the principles that have become honored by the hoary hands of time.

BANKS WILL HAVE TO DEMAND STATEMENTS OF CUSTOMERS

When State Bank Commissioner J. J. Hughes sent out this call for a bank statement to all the banks of the state some few days ago, he accompanied the call by a letter which makes it mandatory for all banks of the state to demand of any customer who desires to borrow as much as $500 or over, to make a financial statement to the bank of all his assets and liabilities; and said statement must be filed with the note for the use of the bank examiners and the directors of the bank. In this statement the customer will have to recite all loans from other banks and individuals; and also tell how much real estate and personal property he owns. This is a new ruling from the State Banking department and will likely not be a popular ruling with some folks who don't like to have other people know anything about their financial affairs. Yet no one can deny the fact but that it is a move in the right direction and will be a big protection to the banks, and to depositors as well.

Turkish Capital's Tragic History.

Constantinople, the capital of the Moslem empire, received its name in the year 330, when the city was formally dedicated as the seat of the eastern empire by Constantine the Great, after whom it was named. The site of the city was that of the ancient Byzantium, which had been founded by Byzas and a colony of Megarians in 667 B. C. It was allied first with the Greeks and later with the Romans, but rebelled against the latter, was besieged for two years and finally laid in ruins. For over a century it remained practically uninhabited, until Constantine selected it as the capital of the empire, destroying all heathen temples and replacing them with the edifices of the new faith. In May, 1453, the city was taken by Mahomet II and the Turk has held it ever since.

Herbal Remedies

Most of the old remedies prescribed by the herbalists of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth centuries contained some element which was extremely difficult to secure, such as "the fat of a mountain mouse" or "the pounded residue of a swallow's nest," while the greater number of them were always taken with red or white wine.

The peony was said to be efficacious for healing diseases at night, whereas, if the gatherer should chance to be seen by a woodpecker, he "risked the loss of his eyesight." The early root-gatherers were anxious to discourage competitors in their art, and therefore made it as dangerous as they could for anyone to obtain the "simples" in the right way.

THE CLEARING HOUSE OF NATIONAL THOUGHT

Do you know that Uncle Sam conducts the largest printing-plant in the world? It requires five thousand people and a plant worth five million dollars to produce the printing utilized in operating the government.

Then there is the seven million dollar building—one of the most beautiful in the world—housing the Library of Congress.

The story of the small beginnings of these two great institutions, their steady growth, and their present importance in the work of the nation, is told in an attractively illustrated folder of the series on Our Government now being issued by this Institution.

There has been a great demand for these stories and it is evident that they have been doing a valuable work in informing the people of this community about our government.

Boston Paper Carried Article About College At Maryville

The Journal of Education of Boston, Mass., in its issue of August 24 contained an article complimentary to the State Teachers College of this city. It was written by Dr. A. E. Winship of Boston, editor of the paper, who made several addresses at the college this summer. The article is as follows:

Under the progressive leadership of President Uel W. Lamkin, the State Teachers College at Maryville, Mo., has nearly doubled its summer enrollment and with the skilful guidance of Bert Cooper, former superintendent of Nodaway County, and Grace M. Shepherd, former state superintendent of Idaho, and other Farm Life experts, it is most progressive in country life promotion through country school activities.

It is the only State Teachers College of which we know that has a fully functioning course in Vitalized Agriculture and 150 teachers are perfecting themselves in this highly specialized feature of rural education. For such teachers the demand seems limitless and salaries extra good.

There is a demonstration rural school with Vitalized Agriculture functioning a few miles from the State Teachers College. Miss Shepherd is creating something brilliantly new in rural school activity. The basis of the newness is M. S. Pittman's Zone Proposition, as described in his "Successful Teaching in the Country Schools" (American Book Company), to which she adds Professor P. G. Holden's "Vitalized Agriculture," which Bert Cooper will supervise.

Miss Shepherd is adding to these nationally famous schemes, the Country Life picnic feature of Cook County. It was our pleasure to be in the classes of Miss Shepherd and Mr. Cooper in the summer session and to be with them and the County Agent at the Tobinized Picnic at the Demonstration School, and it was easy to see why the attendance upon the session of the State Teachers College had doubled this year.

President Lamkin, as state superintendent of Missouri, was a leader in country life activities, and he is making the Missouri school a national leader in this work. Nodaway County is fortunate beyond expression in being the demonstration centre of Northwest Missouri, and thereby of the country as a whole. In the language of the boosters, "See the Maryville College idea grow."

HOTEL GUEST WAKES TO FIND LEG SCORCHING

Fire Was Prevented at the Linville This Morning by Throwing Blaze Out Window.

About 4:30 o'clock this morning L. W. Wiley, an employee of the Standard Oil Company, who was a guest at the Linville Hotel, woke up to find his right leg in a scorching condition and his bed in flames. He immediately rang the bell and Frank Dinsmore, night clerk, appeared on the scene in short order. Using presence of mind he forced the window open and threw the burning mattress and sheets to the ground, thereby averting what might have been a serious fire.

Mr. Wiley does not know how the fire started. Some time during the night he woke and lit a match to find the light. Part of the burning match might have fallen on the mattress, it is thought. This is plausible, as had the mattress caught on fire it would not have blazed for some time, as cotton does not form a blaze for some time after it catches fire.

Mr. Wiley does not know how long the fire had been burning because he is a heavy sleeper and had not his foot been in the range of the heat, he might not have wakened for some time, he said.

ARE CALLING C. OF C. TO GET STUDENTS TO WORK

Albert Mart Wants Some One to Pick Up His Crop of Potatoes All in One Day.

Several people called the office of the Chamber of Commerce today to say that they wanted some one to work and asking if the Chamber could tell of some student that could be secured. They had seen a story carried in the Democrat-Forum Thursday to the effect that a large number of students wanting work were listed at the office of the Chamber. George A. Pickens said this afternoon, however, that he still had more students on his list than he had jobs for.

Albert Mart, who lives five miles northeast of Maryville was at the Chamber of Commerce office this afternoon to say that he wanted four or five College students to work next Saturday at picking up his potatoes. He says that he will plow them out with a lister and that he wants the boys to come along behind and gather them up. He says that in this way he can get his entire crop out in one day.

A man called the office of the Chamber this morning and said that he wanted a boy to do some work. Mr. Pickens called a young man that he had listed and said "I have a job for you. Do you want it?"

"Just show me that job, of course I want it," came the reply over the telephone.

Mr. Pickens says this is typical of the way the students talk when they find that they are to get some work.

JOHN GRAVES MAKES ANNUAL WATER MELON TREAT

John Graves was in Maryville this afternoon and brought his annual treat from his water melon patch to the office of the Democrat-Forum, in the form of two large water melons. John said that he did not put out a very large crop this year, raising only about a half acre. He said that they had not done quite as well as usual, due he thought, to the fact that there were too sudden changes in the amount of moisture. It dried too fast after the wet spells, he thought.

HENRY PIVERAL FINDING CHINCH BUGS IN CORN

They Will Soon Be Crawling Into the Grass and Trash, Where They May Be Killed by Fire

Henry Piveral is cutting corn at his farm west of Maryville and reports that he is finding a good many chinch bugs on the fodder. Roy A. Kinnaird, county agent, says that these will not do any harm this year, but that they will soon be crawling into the fence rows and into clumps of grass and trash about in the fields, where they will pass the winter unless they are molested. But one way in which they may be gotten rid of in part is to burn the grass or trash in which they are likely to be lurking.

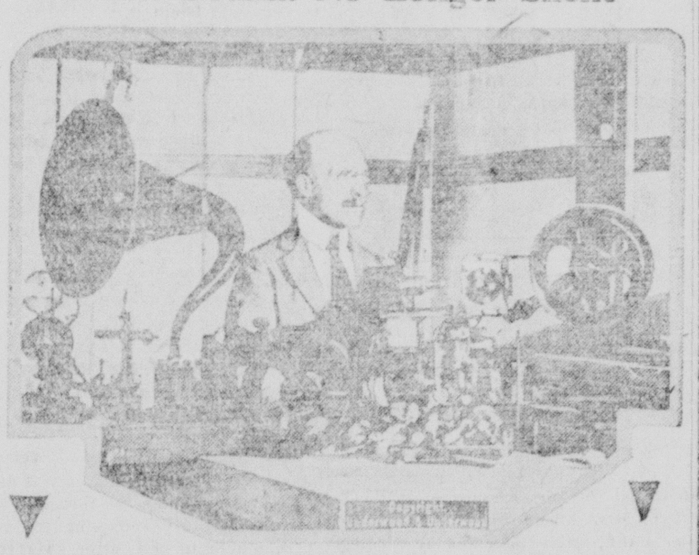
Memorial to Buffalo Bill Cody

One of the most extraordinary and fitting memorials to a real American is the one that has been erected to commemorate the deeds of "Buffalo Bill" Cody—a rest house on the site of one of the ranches from which he sallied on the hunting expeditions which gave him his name and fame in the colorful days when the West was wild and woolly. The place is called Tahska Tepee and is within the Denver Mountain park system.

Silent Drama No Longer Silent



To Prof. Jos. Tykocinsky-Tykocinor of the University of Illinois goes the credit for having taken the word "silent" from silent drama. After 20 years of constant labor, he has just perfected what experts who have viewed it say is a fool-proof talking moving picture machine. The invention is a radical departure over previous attempts at this sort of apparatus in that it reproduces both picture and voice on the same strip of film in exactly synchronized spots, by means of a newly perfected selenium photoelectric cell. The inventor receives no monetary reward for his device, as the patents are in the name of the university.

Maxine Takes Her Dolls for an Outing

Girls, no matter how young or old they may be, love dolls, and some of the grownups are even more in love with their dollies than the kids. Witness Miss Maxine Brown, who is said to have the largest number of dolls in the city of New York, and who takes them all for a ride through the park when weather permits. Miss Brown has more than two hundred dolls in her collection.

Announcement

Our District Manager for Maryville, MR. A. NEIL SOMERVILLE, is now out somewhere on the Atlantic Ocean between Glasgow, Scotland, and Quebec, Canada, viewing the many icebergs that are floating south.

He will be back in Maryville in a few weeks after his sojourn in Europe since last June. Since his departure the Penn Mutual Life has made several progressive improvements in their policies. For instance: the paying of disability of $10.00 per month per 1000 of insurance IMMEDIATELY in case of total and permanent disability whether caused by accident or illness. These payments ARE NOT deducted from the face of the policy in event of death, but are paid in addition, giving assistance during illness to insured as well as to the beneficiary promptly at death. Again, double the face of the policy in event of death is paid in case of accidental cause within a certain period, also several other improvements. These benefits are all backed by Penn Mutual Life, a company that has been doing business since 1847 (or 75 years) with assets of over $234,000,000 and over a billion of insurance in force, of which nearly a million has been placed on the lives of citizens of Nodaway County by Mr. Somerville, and are all satisfied policyholders.

He will have some new features to present to you upon his return, which will be about October 1, regarding our Monthly Income Policy which is protected by the Spend Thrift Laws of Pennsylvania and the Penn Mutual Charter. These protect the wife or children absolutely like a Government Pension free from attachments, etc.

This announcement is made in order that Mr. Somerville will be ready again to give you Penn Mutual service in the very near future.

Most respectfully,

J. P. and E. M. SOMERVILLE,
General Agents, 603-4-5 Shukert Bldg., Kansas City, Mo.

To You Prospective Cattle Buyers

IF YOU ARE GOING TO FEED CATTLE FOR MARKET

you should make a profit, both from the increased value of the cattle and from the fertilizer you get back for the soil some of the cattle die, by pneumonia, hemorrhagic septicemmia, by indigestion, by accident, by fire, lightning, windstorm, or one of a hundred other causes.

What would you think of an Insurance Policy costing only 1½ cents per day to cover your feeding cattle against death from any cause?

This is exactly the kind of policy issued by the Hartford Live Stock Insurance Co. and get this—the Hartford Policy not only pays you the amount originally invested in the cattle, but it is a cumulative policy, and increases in value monthly as the cattle increase in value by heavy feeding. Could there be anything better in the way of protection of profits to a cattle feeder than a policy of this kind?

When you buy a Hartford policy you get the protection of the safetest kind plus the service and advice of the largest organization of live stock experts in the country. There is a Hartford agent near you and we are that agent.

Any bank or banker will gladly tell you about the Hartford and about us. They will take feeding cattle as security for loans when the loan is secured by a Hartford policy.

We can write the same kind of a policy to cover on your feeding hogs. We also write fine cattle and horses. Our office is over Townsends, come up and we will talk it over and tell you all about it.

UNKNOWN PEOPLES OF AFRICA

Race of Beings Who Are Said to Live in the Trees, Among Those Enumerated.

In a part of unknown Africa a race of tree beings are said to exist, who live in the tops of the trees and are sheltered from enemies by the dense foliage. These folk, two-toed and claw-handed, pass from tree to tree with the ease and activity of monkeys, and are of a particularly ferocious nature. Then there are dwarfs in Central Africa which live like wild animals among the rocks and bushes. Their projecting jaws and protruding lips, slender, ill-shaped legs and protruding bellies give them the true apelike appearance. They are singularly timid and fleet at the sight of strangers.

As mysterious is the race of gigantic natives in the unknown deserts north of Uaso Nyiro and the Lorian swamp, East Africa. This strange race is known by tradition to the natives now inhabiting the land west of the Juba in the north and the Tana in the south. Their name appears to be "the Maanthinle," and tradition has it they are Christians, and originally came from Abyssinia.

Until pestilence and native wars broke them they are said to have cultivated large areas, used irrigation to raise crops, owned camels and lived in great circular houses, the huge stones of which testify to their strength.

Communication

His Name Was Not on Ballot.

The following has been received by County Clerk Fred W. Smith from Alroy S. Phillips of St. Louis in regard to leaving his name off of the primary election ballots in Nodaway County:

September 15, 1922.

Honorable Fred W. Smith,
Clerk of the County Court,
Maryville, Mo.

Dear Brother:

I have yours of the 13th instant, to the effect that by mistake my name was not printed on the Republican ballot in Nodaway County, at the last primary election.

I hasten to assure you that I blame no one for this mistake. I feel that it was not done intentionally. It was harmless because Judge Elder's majority in the rest of the state was so large that any votes I might have received in your county would not have changed the result in the state at large.

Your letter makes me feel very good because it tells me that the only reason I received no votes in your county was because my name was not on the ballot.

Trusting that you will have no further anxiety, and assuring you of my good wishes, I remain,

Very truly yours,
ALROY S. PHILLIPS.

ST. LOUIS OR NEW YORK; DECIDING SERIES START

First Place in the American League Will Be Determined by Three Games Starting Today

St. Louis, Sept. 17—The most important series of the American League season and one which may decide the 1922 pennant race opened at St. Louis this afternoon between the Browns and the Yankees.

Never before in the history of the junior circuit have two pennant contesting clubs waged as great a battle for first place as St. Louis an dNew York. It has been a neck and neck struggle since the middle of the season with honors about evently divided in pacesetting.

Should the Browns win today St. Louis will regain the lead. The standings then would read:

	W.	L.	Pct.
St. Louis	87	56	.608
New York	86	56	.606

With only a half a game margin separating the clubs before the start of the series the Browns will have to take two of the three games to gain the top. By winning two of the contests the standings would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
St. Louis	88	57	.607
New York	87	57	.604

New York would just about cinch the pennant by making a clean sweep of the three games. Entering the series a half a game in the lead the Yanks have a big edge with the club intact. Shawkey, Jones, Hoyt, Bush and Mays have been working well of late and the club has been showing better team play. In case the Yanks win them all the standing would read:

	W.	L.	Pct.
New York	89	55	.618
St. Louis	86	59	.593

By winning two of the three games the Yanks would leave St. Louis holding a game and a half lead with the standing as follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
New York	88	56	.611
St. Louis	87	58	.600

"YOUNG TEDDY" TALKS

Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt, or "young Teddy," as he is so generally called by ex-President Roosevelt's friends, is evidently taking up his father's policy of being sure about things, for he was here caught on the White House steps telling Secretary Weeks just how the situation stood.

BARNARD H. S. RANKS FOURTH IN ENROLLMENT

79 in High School—More to Come—Hopkins Highest Except Maryville

Barnard is probably doomed to fourth place in high school enrollment again this year, although the numbers are very close for third place and with a little more effort perhaps Barnard could exceed the enrollment of Burlington Junction, who holds third place.

The standing of the first schools in numbers are Maryville first; Hopkins second, with 132 up to Thursday morning; Burlington Junction third, with 81 to Thursday morning and Barnard fourth, with 79 enrolled. Several more are expected to enroll before many days but the same is probably true in each of the other schools.

There has been some rivalry between the Barnard and Burlington Junction schools in the matter of enrollment but the past two years Burlington Junction has had one or two more than Barnard in the high school. C. F. Ross, formerly superintendent of the schools here is head of the Burlington Junction schools.—Barnard Bulletin.

SUNDAY WILL BE OBSERVED AS "CONSTITUTIONAL DAY."

Sunday, September 17 will be the 135th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution of the United States of America.

It is a civic duty; it should be a personal pleasure, to recall, on that date the high purpose, integrity and unselfish devotion of the delegates to the Constitutional Convention.

They wrought the National Ideal into a practical form of government, reconciling liberty with order, personal rights with public welfare, local independence with collective power, individual responsibility with united sovereignty, establishing a nation where liberty is the heritage of every citizen, liberty based upon common duties to society.

It has been said the enemies of the Constitution and the foes of constitutional government have, in the past few years, had more students of their vicious, unpatriotic, un-American doctrines than have those who would protect the Constitution and defend constitutional government. We hate to think this is true, even as we hate to admit the growing tendeney to ignore the law and defy the plain provisions of the Constitution: "to establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity."

Respect for law and order; the rights and duties of the citizen; the privileges and obligations of American citizenship were never more timely topics for church, club and community consideration.

FIVE THINGS ON MENU FOR PICNIC DINNER

All Women of Christian Church Will Come With Same Things in Their Baskets

Bread and butter sandwiches, fried chicken, potato salad, pickles and pie. These are the things that will be in the menu at the College park tomorrow when the women of the First Christian Church entertain the men, as the penalty imposed on the fairer sex for allowing the men to out do them in a contest at the church this summer. Each of the baskets that the women bring are to contain these things. And every woman in the church is invited to attend and bring her basket.

There is a big crowd of men to feed and they are likely to be hungry, as a lot of them won't get up in time in the morning to get breakfast and get to Sunday School on time. Or some of them mav go without their morning meal on purpose so that they will be able to do ample justice to the picnic dinner.

Hereford Angus Shorthorns

In making this offering at public sale we believe the farmers and feeders of this community have an opportunity to purchase cattle of a kind and quality seldom assembled. Every animal to be sold was selected by us on the range where they were grown and they represent the tops out of thousands of heads.

Every experienced cattleman knows full well the disadvantages generally attached to buying cattle on the central markets, where stock often becomes stale and subject to excessive fills. This we have eliminated as our cattle comes fresh direct from the producer to the farmer, a fact well worth considering.

With all kinds of feed in abundance and more particularly in this locality than others, it is an opportune time to invest in good cattle.

Cattle will be sold in lots to suit purchaser to the highest bidder absolutely without exception.
